

Constructing Explanations and Designing Solutions

The products of science are explanations and the products of engineering are solutions.